

7th December 2006

Personal Defender Ltd - Re-Sub: Bio-Hood100

A potentially useful new concept but insufficiently validated; more research and development is required before it is ready for evaluation in practice. (recommendation 3)

This product is a personal respiratory protection hood designed to protect the user from viral, bacterial and particulate exposure.

The panel were content that the product had utility to the public; however, data on user acceptability for clinical use was absent.